

Industry experts working with you to continually improve food safety and quality

FSSI Group's advisory and consultancy team supports the changing needs of your Food & Drink business across integrity, regulatory, business improvement and assurance planning; delivering professional advice and programme support.

Our subject matter experts help organizations in interpreting and implementing Food Safety and Quality standards, regulatory change, continual improvement of your internal controls, your people and culture change requirements, plus deliver training and learning programmes.

We can help achieve goals and objectives quicker
for specific issues

Our Technical people are all industry experts who have held senior technical management positions in food manufacturing. Many have also worked with major UK Grocery retailers and can assist in reinforcing your own team when needed. We offer practical, hands on support with the experience and understanding to drive and implement strategy.

We believe that advisory and consulting success helps identify and normalize more effective management process across a business. We do not depend solely on analytic expertise and on an ability to present convincing reports!

visit www.fssint.com for more details

People, Product & Process

Our skills focus on strong people engagement, sharing Best Practice and Standards to Training and Learning. We support Managers who need not only expert advice but also practical help in improving the organization's performance.

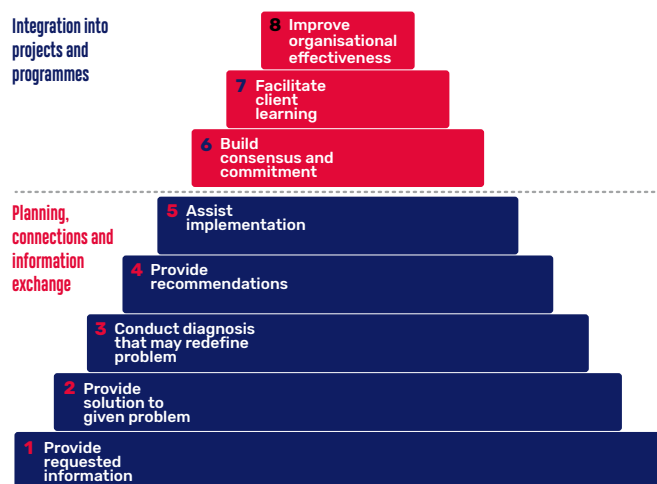

Your team understands the broader range of challenges across your products and processes within the company, but we can help achieve goals and objectives quicker for specific issues or wider risks within the Food & Drink sector.

We offer a flexible advisory and consultancy service supported by technology or integrated into your own software and management information.

Working together to deliver:

-  Food based technical advice and support
-  Industry Networking and exchange of ideas
-  Root cause analysis and corrective action planning
-  Project Management
-  Programme Planning and Management
-  Flexibility within your operations
-  Lifecycle interactions or just a one time engagement
-  Focus on upskilling your team

We are a specialised and focused risk, safety and quality management business driving integrity from audit and advisory services across the Food & Drink Industry.

Hierarchal concept from hbr.org

